US AIRWAYS BOLSTERS FLYING TO THE BIG APPLE

Airline Introduces New Service from Seven Cities and Expanding Service from Three Others to New York's LaGuardia Airport

TEMPE, Ariz., Aug. 16, 2010 –US Airways (NYSE:LCC) today announced it is adding more flights from more destinations to New York City, including new service from seven East Coast cities to New York's LaGuardia Airport. Two of the cities receiving new air service, Hartford, Conn. and Harrisburg, Pa., currently do not have non-stop flights to LaGuardia on any other airline. In addition to the seven new markets, three additional cities are seeing an increase in round trips to LaGuardia.

The new and expanded service begins Oct. 31 and will be operated by US Airways Express partners Air Wisconsin, Chautauqua Airlines, Piedmont Airlines, PSA Airlines and Republic Airways. With these additions, US Airways increases its presence at LaGuardia to 194 peak-day departures to 34 airports. The cities and their peak-day round trips are listed below:
